

the leading answer to pet cancer

A NOTE FROM DR. STEPHANIE CORREA

I am very sorry you have received unsettling medical news about your beloved pet. It is a stressful time, and I appreciate your veterinarian's trust in Animal Cancer Care Clinic to be of help.

Foremost, I want you to know that there are many new approaches to successfully treating cancer in animals of any age – often at costs far less than you may think. Because animals do not experience many of the negative side effects that humans do, the quality and longevity of an animal's life can be significantly improved with even basic cancer care.

Our Clients report that attending a Consultation with us eased their minds and helped them learn important facts about their pet's condition and treatment options – often addressing preconceptions they may have had about animal cancer care (e.g., too late, too expensive, too risky, too painful, too inconvenient). This knowledge allowed them to make responsible, informed decisions about their pet's wellbeing.

Because cancer in animals can advance quickly, I encourage you to schedule a Consultation visit with us soon. This appointment can be at any of our seven locations in Central and South Florida and will take about one hour during which a veterinary oncologist will conduct an examination and review your pet's medical history. If additional diagnostic tests are advised, they can typically be performed while there, with any associated costs provided in advance. We will discuss treatment options along with expected prognoses and provide you with a written estimate for complete care. Of course, you are under no obligation to pursue any treatment whatsoever, but if you decide to go forward, we can often initiate treatment at this first appointment.

In partnership with us, your veterinarian is providing you this gift of $50 toward your Consultation visit. Call us to schedule at 954-527-3111, and your appointment cost will be reduced to just $75.

Be assured that the comprehensive treatment of animal cancer is our exclusive practice. We care for more animals with cancer than any other practice in the United States. This means that our veterinarian oncologists see daily what others see rarely, so we are better able to quickly and accurately diagnose conditions and predict animal responsiveness to different therapy options. This experience has built our culture of HOPE, CARE and optimal OUTCOMES for Animal Patients and their families for the last 15 years. We look forward to sharing it with you.

Sincerely,
